I love good movies and TV shows. But you know what's even better to me than just watching a good movie or TV show? It's watching a good movie or TV show that not only has great acting, but one that has a great plot. I am a huge fan of psychological thrillers and dramas.

I haven't had the kind of time to go to the movie theaters like I used to, because of work, family and other important responsibilities, but every now and then I try to catch an occasional flick at the movie theater. Such is the case with the movie I just went to see called "Now You See Me."

Boy, was that a great movie!
