

YOU ARE NOT THE FATHER!

Written by Jeffrey L. Boney
Wednesday, 19 June 2013 13:30

Untitled document

Why is there always a discussion behind Father's Day and who should and shouldn't be celebrated? If the day is a day to celebrate fathers, why would a woman want to be celebrated for being a quasi-man?

When it comes to Mother's Day, I don't think I've ever heard people refer to mothers as anything other than mothers.

Fathers who only meet certain criteria tend to only get called a father. I see other select fathers get called 'Deadbeat Dads' if they have fallen short in some areas. I also see other fathers get called things like 'sperm donors.'

YOU ARE NOT THE FATHER!

Written by Jeffrey L. Boney

Wednesday, 19 June 2013 13:30

jboney1@texasbusinessalliance.org