

The Houston Dynamo and BBVA Compass launched its Building a Better Mind Initiative at The Rusk School in Houston's East End, as part of their Building a Better Mind campaign.

Dynamo players Colin Clark, Adam Moffat, Brian Ownby and Nathan Sturgis, along with BBVA Compass and Dynamo officials, read to students in kindergarten through second grade. The event was part of the BBVA Compass literacy program, "Reading Counts," which promotes the importance of reading to children and provides free books to students.

Teaching children to save lessons were taught by BBVA Compass and Dynamo Officials all week at The Rusk School. The lessons make learning about money fun and allow bankers to help students understand the basic principles of using money wisely.

*Statoil hosted their 1st annual OTC event at the BBVA Compass Stadium. This inaugural event included stadium tours, performers, a laser light show and a concert with R&B musician Mary Griffin.

Bill Maloney, the Executive Vice President of Statoil Development and Production North America, gave welcome remarks and introduced Statoil's North American brand launch. Afterwards, musician Mary Griffin entertained the guests.

Statoil is an international energy company with operations in 36 countries. Building on 40 years

Dynamo Kicks: Houston Soccer Notebook

Written by Yolande Y. Lezine, Sports Editor
Monday, 14 May 2012 19:47

experience from oil and gas production on the Norwegian continental shelf, the company is committed to accommodating the world's energy needs in a responsible manner, applying technology and creating innovative business solutions. Statoil is headquartered in Norway with approximately 21,000 employees worldwide, and is listed on the New York and Oslo stock exchanges. Statoil has its North American headquarters in Houston, Texas, and is the official sponsor of the Houston Dynamo Youth Development System and the official oil and gas partner of BBVA Compass Stadium.