

2012 Camaro and Mitsubishi

Written by Henrietta Wilson
Wednesday, 11 July 2012 00:00

---

The Camaro convertible is another example of what the folks at Chevrolet have been capable of making, one of their most successful properties, the Camaro, even better.

For 2012, they are introducing the Camaro convertible and they are already turning heads and flying off of showroom floors as well. This convertible's top, a cousin of the Corvette, is capable of opening and closing in a mere 20 seconds. They come outfitted with 6.2 liter, V8 engines with SFI which are affixed to six speed manual transmission systems. They perform efficiently to the extent of garnering 16 miles per gallon through metropolitan confines and in the area of 24 miles to the gallon on the freeways with a touted savings, over the term of twelve months to be $2,367.00.

Those are standard properties of an industry competitive listing that goes on to include such features as a power steering variable ratio, some Brembo performance brakes and powered windows with both the driver and passenger express down-up element.

2012 Camaro and Mitsubishi

Written by Henrietta Wilson
Wednesday, 11 July 2012 00:00

---

Those safety associated amenities includes their anti-lock brake system, an airbag system that covers the driver and front passenger, some dual stage frontal air bags with passenger sensing and there are side impact air bags. Also included are rear child seat latch anchors, a theft deterrent system, a stabilitrak, stability control system which includes traction control and there is a rear parking assist feature. That feature includes a rear vision camera, a tire pressure monitoring element and a battery rundown protection item.

Other standard features includes a tonneau cover, a power convertible top, a rear spoiler, some daytime running lights, front fog lights and there is a universal home remote for your convenience. The interior environment is plush and comfortable with both the driver and passenger's seat being heatable and adjustable with the front seats being leather appointed. An air filtration system is available with these units as well as two convenient power outlets, a steering column that is tilting and telescopic and which is wrapped in leather.

The entertainment systems that have been incorporated into these vehicles includes an XM radio service, auxiliary gauges, a driver's information center, Bluetooth for your phone and all of which is highlighted by a premium Boston acoustics audio system where the controls are located on the steering column.

2012 Camaro and Mitsubishi

Written by Henrietta Wilson
Wednesday, 11 July 2012 00:00

---

But the Mitsubishi RVR is a good alternative to the Camaro, a more compact crossover. The RVR is a good choice for people who want a more practical SUV.